Media group honors Catholic MP3 player giveaway to military

The leaders of a project that delivers MP3 players filled with Catholic spiritual content to service members received the 2011 Clarion Award from the Catholic Academy for Communication Arts Professionals at the annual Catholic Media Convention in Pittsburgh.

The award recognized Cheri Lomonte and Jeff Gardner, heads of the Frontline Faith Project which distributes the MP3 players through families and chaplains. The project has put 16,000 players into circulation and especially targets injured troops and soldiers stationed in Iraq or Afghanistan.

The media devices are a welcome tool for the chaplains and are a "great comfort" to service members and their families.
